of the parade. Normal school students in uniform came next in line and then came a contingent of high school young women also dressed in white with Red Cross caps.

At this point the colored delegation came into view and looked splendidly. This group was composed of some thirty members of the colored auxiliary.

The Junior Red Cross auxiliary composed of children of the grade schools brought up the rear of the parade. The marshals of the parade were Mesdames L. N. Yost, W. H. Conaway and Lloyd Sample. They were materially assisted by Robert C. Miller who was on the scene at the request of the women. Mrs. Vaughn Joliffe chairman of the local chapter was the head of the committee which arranged for the parade.

Despite the hot rays of the sun which beat down as the parade passed along the women with heads up and bravely to the front marched with martial tread and made a most imposing appearance. Generally speaking the consensus of opinion expressed during and following the parade was to the effect that this was the best parade from many standpoints that ever traversed the streets of Fairmont and according to many well versed in marching lore, the women set a pace for good time, straight lines and martial tread which the men who take part in future parades will do well to emulate.

According to a member of a musical organization who is a travelling man claiming Detroit as his home who was in the city Saturday the women kept better step and better lines than any parade in which drilled men did not participate in which he had ever witnessed.

The band furnished the best of music and did its part in making the parade the success it was from start to finish coming up Main street the band played spiritedly the George Bohand Production "Over There" and the pace set was lively but the women did not falter. When Quincy street was reached the band started up "Keep the Home Fires Burning" in a less lively time and the women slowed down gladly and kept up a good swingy gait up Quincy and down Jackson to Cleveland.

The parade which was such a success was the talk of the evening all over the town and compliments galore were poured into willing ears of the participants.

it would prove agreeable to Morgantown. This week everybody connected with Red Cross work will be obliged to extend themselves. This applies not only to the campaign workers, but to the speakers will be addressing lodge meetings and gatherings in the county. The Four Minute Men will have their share of work in addition to this.

"In addressing school children I treat the Red Cross in story form," says Hon. E. M. Showalter, "as I find that it can be presented with better effect." On Friday afternoon Mr. Showalter addressed 400 school children at the White school.

Robinson's run has sent a request for a lay speaker on Thursday evening as it wants to organize an auxiliary of the Red Cross society.

N. W. Hayden, traveling man, left a check for $3 at the drive headquarters after he had asked whether small contributions were received. He received the check from H. O. OPEN HOUSE AT THE RED CROSS ROOMS

One of the Features of the Campaign Set For Thursday.

One of the special events during the present Red Cross drive for $80,000 in Marion county will be the observance of "open house" at the headquarters of the Fairmont chapter of the Red Cross in the Municipal building next Thursday.

The ladies of the chapter extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend and especially men, because the majority of the women are already acquainted with what they are doing. This will give every man an opportunity to see what the economy is being put into by the Red Cross in its work. It will also acquaint the public with the fact that after the money has been raised that real sacrifice then is only being made. Scores of women work day in and day out making garments for our soldier boys. The work will be a revelation to those who have never seen the big work ship in operation.

The open house will be observed between 10 o'clock in the morning and 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The ladies have extended an invitation to campaign workers to visit the headquarters in the municipal building on Thursday after they have had their luncheon in the Fleming building.

For a number of years Mr. Pollock was a member of the Legislature and State Senate in Ohio, having been the representative from the city of Canton.

Woman is Held for Murder by Coroner

Today Coroner Frank A. Lloyd and his jury investigated the death of Charley Phillips, who died in the Fairmont hospital last week from the effects of a gunshot wound.

The jury today decided that Phillips met his death from injuries resulting from being shot by Mrs. Akulina, a slavish woman. It will be remembered that Phillips was accused of trying to break in her rear door at Baxter last week.

Two witnesses were heard, Mrs. Charley Phillips, widow of the murdered man, and Thomas Phillips, a brother of the murdered man. Phillips was a Russian.

of the big drive, has everything in fine working order. Great confidence is had in Marion county and the slogan, "Marion Never Falters" has become heralded all over the state.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the workers of Fairmont district was held on Saturday evening at the drive headquarters in the Fleming building. Attorney Henry S. Lively, the vice chairman, organized the working forces of Fairmont district, after which Chairman Wiegall explained details of the campaign.

The plan of the canvass has been so arranged that the teams of ladies will conduct a house to house canvass to reach the women of each family. The men of the city will be canvassed by means of a complete card system. This is not a membership campaign, but a combined war fund to take care of the two auxiliaries in Marion county in addition to the general war Red Cross fund. The women affiliated with these chapters have done excellent work. Great sacrifices are being made by dozens of them in order that the Red Cross work may be turned out.

Men of the city and county are requested not only to give themselves, but in addition provide a contribution for their wives, sisters or any of the women folks of the family. The women have played such an important part in Red Cross work that it is hoped to even obtain a greater interest by this means.

Enthusiasm has run so high in the rural districts that the headquarters have been swamped by requests for subscription cards. The fondest hopes of the most enthusiastic campaigners have been exceeded. Headquarters was obliged to give only a limited supply of these cards to the city captains, but by noon today the supply was replenished.

Workers in the Red Cross drive held a meeting in Mannington yesterday afternoon and everything is in shape for the start today. Mention was made that the apportionment made against George's Gap is $1,200. Of this amount $500 was raised in twenty minutes at a committee meeting in that town. John Baker, who has a boy in the service, gave $50 himself toward the great work. Several gave $100 including Captain John L. Wells, of that place. One of the donors was Marshall Washington, colored, who gave $25. Great enthusiasm has swept that section of the county.

Colored folks of the city and county are deeply interested in the work of the great cause of the Red Cross. Thomas Kellar is chairman of the committee. He has named these captains: Frank H. Jackson, Charles Williams, William D. Armstrong, Hazel Carter, Mrs. Frank Jackson and Mrs. William Fortune. All of the captains of the colored forces will meet for organization tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Dunbar school. W. J. Wiegall, chairman of the big drive, will address the captains. James Taylor, the colored barber, has donated the services of his automobile to further the work in the Monongah district.

BOHEMIANS MAKE TROUBLE. LONDON, May 20 — A state of siege has been proclaimed at Prague, the Bohemian capital, by the police, and the military garrison has been reinforced.

originally a trolley system but now a steam road, serves fourteen tipple mines within three miles of each other, all of which are of good size, with something like $2,000,000 in capital involved.

Three veins of coal are operated in the hill where the Randall mine is located but by different companies. The Torp Coal Company operates the Pittsburgh seam, and Tate Brothers the Redstone and Sewickley vein under the same hill. The Torp Coal Company can load by water, on the Monongahela or across the river by a bucket system to the Baltimore & Ohio Fred Torp bought 208 acres of the Pittsburgh coal from Tate Brothers and paid $150,000. that he has tured down offers of twice that amount saying that he would only make other coal investments and it is doubtful if he could improve the present holding.

The Bertha Mine, which is one of the Jones interest operations, the concern which has Rachel mine at Morgantown and the Scott Run and plants opposite each other and in a stone's throw. The South Penn. enterprise in which T. B. Henderson and other Fairmonters are interested, is near and is mining the Sewickley vein. The Haymond Coal Company, the Greenmont Fuel Company, the Berry Coal Company the Liberty Fuel Company and the Gilbert Coal Company are other enterprises. The Gilbert Coal Company has the first incline mine in that field and is operating the Wayneburg seam with an opening 450 feet above the Morgantown and Wheeling Railroad. Further up the run and out of the three miles area is the Higginsville Coal Company and the Cassville Collieries Company, the latter being located at Cassville, which is five miles from the mouth of Scott's Run.

The Monongahela Railroad wants government permission to expend $225,000 in building a railroad along Scott's Run paralleling the Morgantown and Wheeling railroad. The petition which was heard in New York last week, sets forth that it wishes to accommodate the Osgood Coal Company and the Cleveland and Morgantown further up the run. The Morgantown and Wheeling railroad is protesting against the granting of petition and is represented by Manning Striker as its attorney. The case is an unusual one and a decision is expected within a fortnight.
